Island Attractions

Put-in-Bay, Ohio is a fun and educational place to visit. Rich in American and Ohio history, Put-in-Bay is located five miles north of Port Clinton, Ohio on South Bass Island in Lake Erie's western basin. It was near here that Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry defeated the British in the Battle of Lake Erie during the War of 1812. Put-in-Bay was Perry's base of operations. Put-in-Bay is also home to a National Park, Perry's Victory and International Peace Memorial. The visitor's center of the Memorial is a rich resource of information on this historical event.

Put-in-Bay offers many fun things to do and see on the island which is the reason thousands of youth groups visit the island each year!

Perry's Victory and Peace Memorial

Perry's Victory and International Peace memorial is a 352-foot Doric column that dominates the downtown harbor. Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry led the American fleet against the British in the historic naval battle that determined the present boundary between the United States and Canada. Perry's victory of the British proved to be a turning point in the U.S. struggle. The bodies of three American and three British naval officers are entombed underneath the monument. 33 steps lead to the elevator that takes you to the observation deck where you can see as far as the Detroit River and parts of Canada on a clear day.

It was just 10 miles off the western shore of Put-in-Bay that Perry engaged the British in battle. Perry wore an enlisted man's uniform so that sharp shooters would not be able to easily distinguish him among the crew. Perry was one of only a few men aboard the Lawrence who escaped unwounded.

It was Commodore Perry who penned the immortal phrase "We have met the enemy and they are ours." He also flew the banner "Don't Give Up the Ship."

Perry's Victory and International Peace Memorial is open daily late April through late October.

Perry's Cave

It was here, in August of 1813, that Perry and his crew discovered fresh, 50-degree drinking water. Perry's Cave is one of only two island caves that still admits visitors. An underground stream meanders through the cavern, and visitors are treated to a narrated tour.

Perry's Cave is also home to Gem Mining Company, Butterfly House, Fort Amazen, a rock climbing wall, and the War of 18 Holes mini golf course.

Heineman's Winery and Crystal Cave

Across the road from Perry's Cave is Heineman Winery and Crystal Cave. The winery, almost 120 years old, is operated by third and fourth generations of the Heineman family. The winery has won many gold awards for its island wines and also produces and sells grape juices. Beneath the winery is Crystal Cave, the largest geode known to man. Tours of the winery and cave are available.
